BRITISH COERCION BILL.

AN INTERVIEW WITH THE EARL OF ABERDEEN ON THE SUBJECT.

The True Feeling of Americans Toward the Irish Cause—A Nobleman Both in Name and Nature—Sketch of His Journeys in America—His Return.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, accompanied by Professor Henry Drummond, of Scotland, arrived at the hotel Brunswick last night. The party have been on a tour around the world, which is now nearly completed. Shortly after their arrival the earl received your reporter. In appearance he is above middle height, of slight physique, and wears a full black beard. His manner is quiet and affable and at the same time is thoroughly democratic.

Nothing could have been more democratic than their arrival at the hotel. About 10 o'clock a carriage drove quietly to the door and three people alighted. A gentleman dressed in a dark gray suit, a hat and rubber-soled shoes advanced to the desk and registered. He was the last person from appearance one would take for an earl, so unostentatious was his bearing. Yet it was the earl himself. In beginning conversation the earl said he was very much fatigued, but he certainly would not retire until he had expressed the great pleasure he had derived from his visit to America. Everywhere he had been received with the greatest kindness, and instead of finding sympathizers for Ireland confined to the riffraff of the population, as the English press call them, he had found it among the most respectable people.

"You may be sure," said he, "I will return for a longer stay as soon as I can."

His lordship was then asked what he thought of the criticisms of the English newspapers at the time the American gentlemen presented the silver testimonial to Mr. Gladstone.

"My feeling is very strong," was the reply, "that the criticisms were either made through ignorance or willful misrepresentation. The English people really do not know the classes of people that sympathize with Mr. Gladstone in this country. As I said before, it's not the 'riffraff,' but many of our best people. I am sure Mr. Gladstone thoroughly appreciated the compliment, the spirit in which it was given and the gentlemen who made the presentation."

"What bearing will the recent conservative defeats have upon that party?"

"You know I have been away from home some time and do not know what may have brought them about, but I think it is straw which shows how the wind blows. It is certainly an indication that public opinion is changing in England." Referring to Lord Randolph Churchill's silence about the late defeat of Mr. Matthews, the earl said that for the same reason as given above he would rather not express an opinion. "I have read what your papers had to say," he said, "about Miss Cass with the greatest interest. It is certainly a question with which England has to deal at once."

"What is your opinion of the coercion bill?"

"That bill, I think, has been rightly judged as ominous for Ireland. I am thankful that it has not yet reached the house of lords. I may get a chance at it yet. Mr. Gladstone is on the right side and I am a Gladstonian."

"Has the Irish American support helped the Liberals?"

"I can't see that it has altogether. The nature of it was very much misunderstood. The English people have it drummed into their heads by the president that the sympathies expressed were only for the purpose of serving trade and politics on this side of the water. It is hard to get that idea out of their heads now and they will try not to accept any other idea. This last committee, though, that visited Mr. Gladstone will help to open their eyes. It has been producing much good. We three traveled on through Ceylon, Australia, New Zealand and thence to San Francisco. We arrived there on June 11, and remained several days. Here we were received most kindly and were visited by many Scotch and Irish clubs who brought greetings. We then pushed on to Denver, and were much pleased to be able in this city to take part in the celebration of the queen's jubilee. I was astonished to find so many Englishmen there and also how many Americans took part in the festivities. Thence we traveled to Kansas City and from there to Texas to visit a brother of Lady Alford. At St. Paul we had a glorious time. Many Scotch and Irish called upon us and presented us with addresses expressing their sympathy for the Irish cause and Mr. Gladstone. While here I had the pleasure of sending a telegram to Mr. Gladstone telling him what had happened. I see it was received by him the same day Mr. Pulitzer was at Dallas Hill with the testimonials. This must have been doubly welcome. All through the west I was surprised at the widespread admiration for Mr. Gladstone. Few people were opposed to Home Rule and still fewer newspapers. In Australia I met many Irishmen for Home Rule, and still loyal to the queen. Very few of them think Ireland would become disloyal if Home Rule was granted. Of course we stayed in Chicago a short time and spent several days at the falls, but sail for home Saturday."

Just as the reporter retired a committee of the Irish Parliamentary Fund committee called to leave their cards. They stated that on account of the lateness of the hour they would wait until to-day and then request the earl to set a time for receiving an address from the full committee.

MURDER MYSTERY.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 16.—The body of an old man named William Cox was found early this morning on De Kalb avenue near Irving avenue, lying on the sidewalk. The police say he was murdered. A piece of board with which he had evidently been beaten over the head and which had on its portions of his brain and hair and covered with blood was found close to the body. Brains protruded from several open wounds in his head. Martin Carney, a man who was in Cox's company last night, was arrested. There were large blood stains on Carney's coat and handkerchief.

FROM OUR FOREIGN COLONEL.

How Buffalo Bill Is Making in the English Colonies.

NEW ORLEANS, July 16.—The following letter from Buffalo Bill to Col. William Ray, formerly of the Twenty-first Indiana, and a "chum" of Buffalo Bill on the plains, has been given to the public:

"LONDON, June 23, 1887.

"MY DEAR COLONEL: It was a pleasant surprise to receive your letter. I have often thought of you and wondered what had become of you. So you are still on top of the earth. Well, ever since I got out of the mud hole in New Orleans things have been coming my way pretty smooth, and I have captured this country from the queen down. Am doing them to the tune of $10,000 a day. Talk about show business, there never was anything like it ever known, and never will be again, and with my European reputation you can easily guess the business I will do when I get back to my own country. It's pretty hard work with two and three performances a day and the society racket at receptions, dinners, etc. No man—not even Gen. Grant—was received better than your humble servant. I have dined with every one of the royalty from Albert, Prince of Wales, down. I sometimes wonder if it is the same old Bill Cody, the bull-whacker. Well, Colonel, I still wear the same sized hat, and when I make my pile I am coming back to visit all the old boys. If you meet any of them tell them I ain't got the big head worth a cent. I am over here for 'dust.' Will be glad to hear from any of them. Write me again. Your old-time friend, 'BILL CODY.'"

POISONED HER HUSBAND.

DENVER, Col., July 16.—Mrs. Emma Witter was yesterday arrested for poisoning her husband, John A. Witter. Witter was president of the Percheron-Norman Horse company and a well-known turfman. He died recently under suspicious circumstances, and a post mortem revealed arsenic in his stomach. Mrs. Witter was suspected at once, as she was intensely jealous of her husband's attentions to his niece, a Mrs. Hutton, of this city. Proof against Mrs. Witter is strong, though she strongly maintains her innocence. Mrs. Hutton is now in Europe. The parties are all well connected. Mrs. Witter was a relative of Schuyler Colfax. The Witters came from South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Witter's maiden name was Emma Marble. Her father, Isaac Marble, of South Bend, is now with his accused daughter. Mrs. Witter was to-day released on $10,000 bail.

JUDGE COWAN'S FUNERAL.

ST. LOUIS, July 16.—The funeral of Judge Cowan will occur at sunset Sunday, under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. He was born in Staunton, Va., November 9, 1830; represented his district in the Virginia secession convention and sat in the Confederate congress. After the war he practiced law in Kansas City and was several times elected judge of the equity court. At one time he was a candidate for governor. He became a Knight of Pythias in 1874 at Independence, Mo.; was elected Grand Chancellor at Sedalia, October 18, 1877, and in 1884 attained his present position. He was also a Royal Arch Mason and an Odd Fellow of high standing.

Clew to the Railway Mystery.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The Railway mystery is likely to again come to the surface. A special from there says: "The rumor started on the street in this city yesterday afternoon that Mark Keefe, William Byrnes and Stewart Baker were acquainted with the girl who was so brutally murdered on Central avenue, on the outskirts of this city last March, and that for three days previous to the murder she had slept in Baker's barn, has had the effect of causing William Byrnes to suddenly leave the city. The police have just been notified, and will start to hunt him up to-day."

Greater Than the Governor.

RICHMOND, Va., July 16.—Miss Lizzie Van Lew, ex-postmaster of this city and war unionist, is here spending a summer vacation. She seems to enjoy the notoriety recently given her on account of being recently to the position of a messenger in the postoffice department at Washington. When she was seen by a reporter to-day she was fairly radiant with smiles and brimming over with good humor. She said: "The United States government, as it is at present, is unable to mortify of humiliate me. I feel like a battle flag returned to my native state."

The Test Pool Room Case.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The passage of the act prohibiting the existence of pool rooms and bucket shops raises a very knotty question as to whether the tenants of such places are liable under their leases for rent until May next. Prominent lawyers have been consulted by some of the landlords, one of whom has been getting over $1,000 per month for the use of a large room on the ground floor of a building in a back alley, and it is stated that a test suit will probably be instituted next week.

Margery a Crank.

AKRON, O., July 16.—Margery Robinson, the pretty wife of thief Robinson, alias Harrington, one of the Cleveland fur robbers, has tried three times to kill herself, and is now trying to starve to death in the county jail here. She says she will be killed by some of the gang of robbers if she lives. The revelation about the thieves which she recently made are not credited by the police, who regard the woman as a crank.

Dropped Dead From Heat.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 16.—William Molan, aged fifty years, dropped dead yesterday afternoon on the farm of George Havestick, in Strasburg township. Heat was the cause. He leaves a wife here and has two brothers in Philadelphia.

Sugar Refinery Burned.

MONTREAL, July 16.—The St. Lawrence sugar refinery was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. One man was killed and two others were fatally injured by jumping from windows. The total loss will probably reach $250,000.

Jacob Sharp Growing Better.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Jacob Sharp slept better last night than usual, and arose this morning brighter and more refreshed than on any day since he has been in Ludlow street jail.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

IS THE GREAT LABOR ORGANIZATION BREAKING UP?

Grand Master Workman Powderly Replies to the Assertion Made By a Number of Newspapers—Carpenters' Strike Threatened in Chicago—Other Troubles.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—T. V. Powderly will print the following in the Journal of United Labor in reference to the assertions in a number of newspapers that the organization of the Knights of Labor was breaking up:

"We are breaking up as the ploughman breaks up the soil for the sowing of new seed; we are breaking up old traditions; we are breaking up hereditary rights and planting everywhere the seed of universal rights; we are breaking up the idea that money makes the man and not moral worth; we are breaking up the idea that might makes right; we are breaking up the idea that legislation is alone for the rich; we are breaking up the idea that the congress of the United States must be run by the millionaire for the benefit of millionaires; we are breaking up the idea that a few men may hold millions of acres of untitled land while other men starve for want of an acre; we are breaking up the practice of putting the labor of criminals into competition with honest labor and starving it to death; we are breaking up the practice importing ignorance bred of monarchies in order to deprecate intelligent, skilled labor at home; we are breaking up the practice of employing little children in factories, thus breeding a race deformed, ignorant and profligate; we are breaking up the idea that a man who works with his hands has need neither of education nor of civilizing refinement; we are breaking up the idea that the accident of sex puts one-half of the human race beyond the pale of constitutional rights; we are breaking up the practice of paying women one-third the wages paid men, simply because she is a woman; we are breaking up the idea that a man may debauch an infant girl and shield himself from the penalty behind a law he himself has made; we are breaking up ignorance, intemperance, crime and oppression of whatever character and wherever found. Yes, the Knights of Labor are breaking up, and they will continue their appointed work of breaking up until universal rights shall prevail; and while they may not bring in the millennium they do their part in the evolution of moral forces that are working for the emancipation of the race."

The employees at the general office of the Knights of Labor in this city will, during the warm weather, stop work at 1 p. m. on Saturdays.

Carpenters' Strike Threatened.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Next Monday at least 1,500 carpenters expect to go on a new strike. They made an offer last night to have all grievances settled by arbitration, but it was flatly refused by the master carpenters. The latter held a stormy meeting at the builders' exchange last night, and refused to consider a communication from the carpenters asking for the adoption of the eight-hour day, or arbitration. When the members of the Carpenters' council learned of the action of the bosses, they said: "They want to force us to another strike; they shall have it on Monday."

No Change in the Brooklyn Strike.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 16.—There is no material change in the strike of the engineers and firemen of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad company. All attempts at arbitration have failed. The state board of arbitration have decided to proceed with an investigation of the affair. On request of counsel for the strikers the hearing was postponed until late this afternoon pending the arrival of Mr. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A Distressing Death.

NEW YORK, July 16.—One of the saddest incidents that has ever occurred in the New York stock exchange transpired at noon to-day, and was surrounded by circumstances so peculiarly sad that their occurrence caused members to suspend all business at once, without any preliminary notice from their chairman. Vice-President Hill, apparently in full health, ascended the platform to announce the death of M. E. De Rivas, and had hardly finished when he was taken with a sudden weakness. Friends assisted him to the main entrance, but he had just passed the flight leading to the door when he expired. The announcement of his death was immediately made and a special meeting of the governing committee was called to take action. Business remains entirely suspended. The stock exchange adjourned on account of Mr. Hill's death.

Searching for Jurors.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The examination of talemans in the boodie case, was resumed this morning. Judge Jamieson is nearly prostrated by the heat; the court jogged right along, however, and jurors marched in court through one door, spoke a few words to the judge and then wheeled out through another, with the regular tramp of troops on review.

Death of Jay Cooke's Son.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Mr. Jay Cooke, son of the former governor of the District of Columbia and for a number of years prominently identified with the stock brokerage business in this city, died this morning of Bright's disease. Mr. Cooke was but thirty years of age.

Death of an Attorney.

PARKERSBURG, W. V., July 16.—Hon. Joseph Budd, formerly city attorney and judge of Hastings' court this city, died this morning after a protracted attack of fever. He was forty-four years of age.

General Sherman in Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 16.—The steam yacht "Meteor," with Gen. Sherman and his party on board, arrived here this morning. The general and ladies were driven about the city and its suburbs.

Death From Sunstroke.

CHICAGO, July 16.—John Adams, a carpenter, while drinking a glass of water this morning, suddenly dropped dead from a sunstroke.

LAKE BLUFFERS.

Last Day of the Convention—Election of Officers.

CHICAGO, July 16.—At the Lake Bluff convocation yesterday, Rev. Dr. Evans made an argument in favor of woman's enfranchisement. He said there are one hundred women ministers, fifty women doctors, and more than one thousand women dentists and dentists in the United States. Seventy-five per cent. of the teachers are women. Fundita Ramabai, a high-caste Brahmin lady, who has studied four years in England and America, and who is most devoted to the elevation of her own class in India, made a speech on the women in India. She wears the native costume, and attracted great attention. Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, of New York City; Miss Rachael Foster, of Philadelphia; Dr. H. M. Tracy Cutler, of Illinois; Mrs. Judge Waite, and other leading suffragists also spoke.

In the evening the convocation held its annual business meeting with the following result: Francis E. Willard, Illinois, president; Mrs. Sallie F. Chapin, South Carolina, vice president; Rev. Dr. A. J. Jutkins, Illinois, chairman of executive committee; Mrs. Caroline Leech, Louisville, Ky., secretary; J. B. Hobbs, Illinois, treasurer; head of the W. C. T. U. Training school, Miss Mary Allen West, Chicago, Ill.; head of the School of Politics, Walter T. Mills, Worcester, O.; head of the free parliament, L. C. Pittner, Evanston. These constitute the executive committee.

Indignant Citizens of Dalton, Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 16.—A large public meeting of leading citizens of Dalton, Ga., has denounced as slanderous the reports sent out about the hanging of Governor Gordon in effigy by a mob, and a disturbance in the city. The meeting passed a series of resolutions in which they declare that but three men were engaged in the effigy-hanging, and that these three men were all intoxicated, and deeply regret their thoughtless conduct; and that there was no disturbance in the city. The resolutions close with these words: "Our confidence in the justness, fairness, firmness and ability of the honored chief magistrate of Georgia remains unshaken." Governor Gordon declares that he could not have done otherwise than commute the sentence of Holman because the attorney general, the judge, the state's solicitor and all of the jury asked it, and witnesses who testified against Holman have since sworn that they committed perjury.

Injured in a Powder Explosion.

RACINE, Wis., July 16.—Three children of August Williamson, aged three, ten and twelve years, residing in the town of Mount Pleasant, were badly hurt by a powder explosion last night. The men of the family were in a field practicing with a rifle. The children were playing with fire crackers near a box containing powder, which exploded, blowing the children several feet. Their hands, faces and heads were seriously burned. The clothing of the youngest one caught fire, and in order to extinguish the fire the child was plunged into a tub of water. The little one died. The two older children will recover, but one is in danger of becoming blind.

The National Educators.

CHICAGO, July 16.—At the National Educational convention this morning the following papers were read: "The Place Manual Training Should Occupy in a System of Public Schools." A—In urban communities and in large towns, by Gen. Francis A. Walker, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass. B—In country districts, by Superintendent M. A. Newell, Baltimore, Md. C—Kinds of schools to be introduced and practical methods of instruction, by Miss L. A. Fay, Springfield, Mass., with illustrations. Discussion opened by C. W. Woodward, St. Louis.

Drouth in Illinois.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 16.—Central Illinois is experiencing the most intense heat known in this section for many years, and which is rendered the less endurable by the long drouth. Yesterday was the third day of the red-hot term, and the thermometer all day stood above 100 degrees in the shade, as it did the two preceding days. Reports are received from some adjacent points of a record of from 105 to 110 in the shade. The crops are suffering greatly from lack of rain. In some places the crop is badly "fired."

Died from Hydrophobia.

DETROIT, Mich., July 16.—Bernard J. Michenfelder, eldest son of Alexander Michenfelder, president and principal stockholder in the Bavarian Brewing company, of this city, died in the throes of hydrophobia at 4 o'clock this morning at his parents' residence on Bellevue avenue. He was bitten by a little Irish spaniel, belonging to the family, about five weeks ago, but it was not until Tuesday that symptoms of the dread disorder appeared.

Caused By a Broken Lamp.

BOSTON, July 16.—The house and barn owned and occupied by J. F. McKeon, at Charles River village, was totally destroyed by fire last night. Nothing was saved from the house, which in addition to valuable furniture, contained about $400 in money and $13,000 worth of railroad bonds. The value of the property was about $6,000. The fire originated from the breaking of a kerosene lamp.

They Met Above the Clouds.

CLOUDLAND, N. C., July 16.—The Tennessee Press association, twenty-nine papers represented, met yesterday above the clouds on the top of Roan mountain, 6,349 feet above the sea. Honorable John Allison, secretary of state, delivered the oration. The association will be in session several days.

Bath Burning.

LEWISTON, Me., July 16.—A request for assistance has just been received from Bath, as a large fire is now raging at that place. An engine has been dispatched from here. No particulars have been received except the fact that the fire started in the works of the New England Ship Building company.

SATURDAY EVENING JULY 16, 1887.

BRACKEN is said to be good for the usual Democratic majority this time.

KENTUCKY politics and Kentucky weather are "red hot and still a heatin'."

GENERAL W. H. BALDWIN, of Cincinnati, has visited Rowan County the past week, and believes the people are all willing to settle their troubles and disputes in the courts.

THE full Democratic vote of Mason County will be brought out at the August election. At least, things look that way now. It will be an election when every Democrat should do his duty.

THE receipts from internal revenue the past fiscal year show an increase of $2,000,000 over those of the preceding year. The increase is attributed to the oleomargarine tax and the growth of the breweries.

At Covington, James A. Garfield Post No. 2, G. A. R., passed resolutions the other evening, tendering a vote of thanks to Speaker Carlisle "for his uniform kindness and attention in looking after the interests of suffering and needy comrades."

THE Grant County Democrat, heretofore published at Williamstown, Ky., threw up the sponge and quit business this week. It was owned and edited by Frank C. Meenaugh, formerly of Ripley. Mr. Meenaugh found out that the paper "couldn't live on wind."

MR. O'DONERTY, who spoke at the court house last night, met his Democratic opponent, Colonel Jim Bryan, at Falmouth the other day, and it is said the Republicans over that way have regretted ever since that their champion was allowed to face the eloquent orator from Covington in a joint discussion.

THE Democrats of Montgomery County are going to do their share of the good work in August. The Sentinel-Democrat says: "Arrangements have been made by the county committee to bring out every voter. The old and helpless are to be carried to the polls, and Buckner, Betty and the baby, and all the State and local ticket will receive the largest majority ever polled in the county."

COUNTY ATTORNEY SHAW, of Covington, claims to have a written confession from some individual from Morehead, implicating a number of well-known citizens of Rowan County in the attempted murder of Howard Logan. The confession is said to have been made some time before the killing of Craig Tolliver. The matter is not to be given to the public until Shaw is notified to do so by the party who made the confession. A copy of the paper is said to be in the possession of Governor Knott.

IT will be a pretty hard matter for some of the stand-fast Republicans to vote for Colonel Bradley, their nominee for Governor. The Somerset Democrat says:

"If the Union soldier can't vote for General Buckner because he was a rebel Democrat, how can he vote for Colonel Bradley? Colonel Bradley, if we are not out, was about the time of the late unpleasantness, a Democrat and a rebel. We do not know about his fighting qualities nor how he won his title; but he never did any service for the 'Union' that we know of, until he dropped over to the Republican party to get to be County Attorney of Garrard."

Colonel Bradley versus Jim Jones.

A question of veracity has risen between Colonel Bradley and Jim Jones. Both are Republicans and they will have to settle it in the best way they can. It came about this way: At Grayson, Carter County, the other day, General Buckner and Colonel Bradley met in a joint discussion for the first time during the present campaign. Buckner soon had Bradley on the witness stand, and asked him if he (Bradley) had started the falsehood that Governor Knott had written the speech that he (Buckner) had delivered at Lexington. After some hesitancy Mr. Bradley replied that he had stated at London and at Jackson that:

"Jim Jones, of London, who knows Proctor Knott well, told me that he recognized Knott's ear-marks in General Buckner's Lexington speech, and he (Jones) believed that Knott had written the speech. This is all I ever said, and I did not make that statement on my own responsibility, but upon the information furnished me by Jones."

Concerning this charge, the following card was published in yesterday's Courier-Journal:

LONDON, KY., July 14.—Your report of Mr. Bradley's statement at Grayson yesterday, in which he is reported as giving me as his authority for the charge that Governor Knott wrote General Buckner's speech, does me great injustice, as Mr. Bradley had made his allusions to the ear-marks of Governor Knott in General Buckner's speech at Stanford before he came to London and before I saw him after General Buckner's speech was delivered.

JAS. W. JONES.

This places Colonel Bradley, who is the Republican nominee for Governor, in a rather unenviable light. Commenting on the matter, the Courier-Journal says:

"The card from Mr. J. W. Jones places Mr. W. O. Bradley in an awkward position, raising, as it does, a direct question of veracity. Mr. Bradley said at Grayson that he had merely repeated what Mr. Jones had said to him about General Buckner's Lexington speech having been written by Governor Knott. Mr. Jones says that Mr. Bradley made the statement complained of by General Buckner at Stanford before coming to London, and before he (Jones) had seen him after the delivery of General Buckner's Lexington speech. We do not believe that Jim Jones ever told Mr. Bradley anything whatever about that speech, and, if Mr. Bradley wishes to test this question, let him put Jones upon the witness stand. Bradley knows and we know that he dare not do it. Mr. Jones is a staunch Republican, and will probably vote for Mr. Bradley, but his card shows that he will not lie for him."

Two Years.

The arguments in the Workman murder case were finished yesterday at noon. The jury reached a verdict this morning, finding the defendant guilty, and fixing his punishment at two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Bradden & Co., the celebrated feather renovator company, are in town and will remain several weeks.

Miss Rie Ross, of Madisonville, a very accomplished young lady, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. P. B. Johnson.

It hasn't rained enough here to dampen the ground for over five weeks, and crops, as well as people, are suffering for want of rain. Elder Mitchell, of Bardle, delivered an excellent discourse here Sunday.

Miss Mamie Archdeacon, of Maysville, is the guest of the Misses Caughlin.

The dance was a success in every particular, and will be repeated some time in August. J. W. Ryan, a very accomplished young M. D., of Salt Air, O., made a short visit to his uncle, Tom Erwin, near this place, last week.

I Had a Dreadful Cough, that raised a considerable amount of blood and matter; besides, I was very thin, and so weak I could scarcely go out of the house. This was the case of a man with consumption arising from liver complaint. He recovered his health completely by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Thousands of others bear similar testimony.

THE MAGAZINE GUN

Not a Powerful Weapon in the Hands of the Rural Soldier.

Even under the most favorable conditions, the magazine gun changes its range after each fire, because it is lighter by the weight of the fired cartridge. It is, of course, evident that, in the hands of a skillful man, a cool and intelligent man, the magazine gun is a powerful weapon. But the average soldier, especially him from the rural districts, is awkward, stupid, and excitable. Once let him get to work on the lever of the magazine gun, and it is ten to one he fires every shot in his magazine regardless of range, or breaks the lever; and if, as is likely, it should prove difficult to restrain his ardor, the quick handling of troops, change of front, and the like might be seriously impeded.

Whoever may have followed the various trials that have been made with the magazine gun in the hands of the common soldier, or at least those few which have been published, can scarcely fail of surprise that the great powers, one and all, should have decided to adopt it. Of course it is to be expected that continual handling will bring a certain amount of precision; but in these days of great armies, when 1,000,000 men are set afield by a single power, it is necessary to count the cost of learning to use a new weapon, and to learn whether or no it may be relied upon in times of excitement, when roughly and awkwardly handled.

It was only a few weeks ago when the One Hundred and Thirty-second of the line had a trial with the magazine gun. Now, this corps is to the general staff of the German army what the Black Watch is to the English army, what the Old Guard was to Napoleon and the Tenth Legion to Caesar. They fired over the target and under it, and to one side of it, and as if there was no such thing as keeping anything like a range, they no sooner refilled their magazines and started again than the same observed differences were recorded. If the target could have fired back, even with single loaders, there would not have been any hope for them. Surely, if whole corps practicing at the butts with single loaders had exhausted ammunition in this reckless way, we should long since have been compelled to establish powder factories for each regiment or go back to the crossbow and the sling.—Scientific American.

The Barber's Latest Device.

Singing the hair is the latest device of the barbers to draw a customer's money. I hear it is being worked very successfully down east, but it has not reached this city yet. Singing is done either by red hot irons or by flame. The hair is held up in a comb as now in cutting, and the ends are singed off. It is a custom that finds favor with those who have a tendency to baldness. The barber tells them that their hair is coming out. They get frightened, and then he tells them it is caused by the oil of the root escaping from the top of each individual hair. If the patron admits that gauzy statement the barber follows it up with the remedy, which, of course, is nothing more than singeing the top of each hair. This, the customer is told, will stop up the hollow by causing a hard little knob to form at the end. That sounds reasonable, and they take the singeing.

As each hair is left with the frizzled end the entire head of hair looks thicker, and the customer looking in the glass thinks his hair is really improving under the singeing and getting thicker. So he is happy, and nobody is hurt. But the barber ought to be excused for this little scheme. The trade is not what it used to be. The dye business is almost forgotten, although twenty years ago it was the most fruitful source of our revenue. Then everybody had his beard or mustache dyed. Brownish or light whiskers were rare then. Everything had to be black. It was fifty cents for five minutes' work on the thinnest mustache, so the profits could not help being great.—Globe-Democrat.

Recruits for De Lesseps.

The latest "lions" of Paris are nine negro chiefs with unpronounceable names. They have been brought from the African coast by an enterprising contractor. The object is to show them the sights of the French capital and then to get them to sign an agreement with M. de Lesseps to engage their tribe to work on the Panama canal. They are all horribly tattooed and wear ivory bracelets. They speak English.—London Truth.

O'DOHERTY'S SPEECH

The Republican Nominee for Lieutenant Governor Sings an Old Song.

Mr. Matt. O'Doherty, the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor, spoke at the court house last night.

Mr. O'Doherty arrived in town from Brooksville about 6 o'clock last evening and put up at the European Hotel. His Republican friends evidently did not know when to expect his arrival, or were too busy otherwise to show their speaker the usual attention. Mr. O'Doherty finished his supper all alone and afterwards sat for some time in front of the hotel reading the contents of the DAILY BULLETIN. When he had finished this interesting task, he sauntered, alone, down to the Daily Republican office, but finding no one there or on the route he knew, he returned to the hotel. The town clock struck seven and still found Mr. O'Doherty waiting for some kind Republican friend to take some interest in him. Finally Mr. John Heiser went to the relief of his lonesome guest, and introduced himself and others. A very short while before the hour for the speaking, two prominent Republicans, representing a Committee on Reception, made their appearance on the scene and took charge of Mr. O'Doherty from then on.

The court house was moderately filled with voters from both parties, when Mr. Cochran called the meeting to order and introduced the speaker. Mr. O'Doherty went at his work in lawyer-like style, and proceeded to argue his side of the question. He made the usual Republican talk, and his speech will do very well until Colonel Jim Bryan reaches here and argues the other side of the question. The speech was over two hours in length and was well prepared. The speaker very freely criticised Democratic management—just what he was expected to do—but he failed to tell his hearers how affairs could have been better managed. The burden of his song was simply for a change in the State government.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

Seymour Porter pleaded guilty to the offense of cock-fighting and was fined $10 and costs.

The grand jury reported the following indictments:

Andrew Robertson, grand larceny.
James Hutchison, grand larceny.
Ben. Singleton, wilful and malicious cutting.
Henry Lewis, aiding and abetting malicious cutting.
Hord Loughridge, same offense.
William Hendricks, robbery.
William Lewis and Rebecca Lewis, assault and battery.

In the first five cases bench warrants were ordered, allowing bail in the sum of $500. In the case against Hendricks the bond was fixed at $1,000, and in the last case at $250.

Hendricks is a young negro of this city, and is known as "Bath County Bill." He is accused of robbing one, C. M. Ogden, of $7 a week or so ago. Andrew Robertson is the negro who stole a cow from W. J. Neal last spring and sold her in Dover. Robertson was captured in Covington. Ben Singleton, Hord Loughridge and Harry Lewis are three of the negroes accused of assaulting and cutting Snel Farley, of Aberdeen, one Saturday night not long ago. James Hutchison, the only white person indicted so far this term, is accused of stealing a shot-gun from James Harris, who lives on Beasley Creek.

Henry C. Loudon has bought 400,000 pounds of tobacco from M. L. Kirkpatrick, and 200,000 pounds from F. M. Stephenson, both of Ripley. Mr. Kirkpatrick still has 600,000 pounds on hand.

A special from Paris says: "Messrs. Bramblett & Gibson, of Nicholas County, have cornered the tobacco crop in the blue grass district by purchasing 6,000,000 pounds—about one-third of the crop of Kentucky. The following are some of their purchases: From James Letton, of Bourbon, 40,000 pounds at 12c; Wm. McCray, of Sharpsburg, 300,000, at 12c; Waller Sharp, of Sharpsburg, 1,000,000, at 12c; Wm. Peed, of Mason, 40,000, at 8c; Thomas Best, of Mason, 800,000, at 14c; Brown, Banta & Co., of Carlisle, 300,000, at 10c; W. J. Kennedy, of Carlisle, 350,000 at a private figure."

AT Louisville this week a party of workmen, in making an excavation for a cellar on one of the principal streets, came across a large flatboat at a depth of eleven feet. The Commercial says: "It was uncovered and cut away a length of 102 feet, and there is no telling how much longer it may be. There was not a rotten piece of timber about the boat, which is certainly remarkable, for the boat has evidently been covered for a period of seventy or eighty years. It must have been beached or sunk, and then gradually covered up with sediment until it was entirely hid from view. How the timber came to be so well preserved is a mystery."

THE FALL OF THE BASTILLE

HOW THE GREAT DAY WAS CELEBRATED IN FRANCE.

The Fete Observed in an Orderly Manner, But Boulanger Sympathizers Seemed to Predominate—The Amser Sends 200 Men to Head to Cabul—Foreign News.

PARIS, July 16.—The celebration which began yesterday in commemoration of the fall of the Bastille was continued until this morning. The fete was observed in an orderly manner. The newspapers highly compliment the people for the good sense shown in refraining from everything of a disturbing nature. There were a few isolated manifestations, but were of no political importance.

With reference to the French national fete, a correspondent writes: Thanks to the popular influence wielded by Gen. Boulanger, M. Paul De Roulede, and last, but not least, M. Paulus, of immortal music hall memory, the fete nationale of July 14, 1887, was rendered more stirring and eventful than any of its predecessors. Everybody in Paris this morning spoke and thought of nothing else save Boulanger. Pianos in private dwellings, trombone players and promoters of discordant music generally played the Boulanger-Paulus production, "En Revenant de la Revue," and after it, but not before, the hymn of "Rouget de Lisle." The small boys sang and whistled the new popular air with immense gusto. All this was done with the greatest good humor, but apprehensions were excited as to the probable results of the Boulanger influence and inspiration during the review. One writer went so far as to hint that if M. Grevy were to appear in the long Champs Elysees he might be taken prisoner by the mob. No such thing, however, occurred.

The review has been held in the usual manner, and has taken place amidst the customary manifestations of enthusiasm for the army. It has been a very imposing military spectacle, and has not been marred by any disorder of importance. It is true that an ugly looking crowd was collected round about the parade when the review was finished, and that the roughs hissed and shouted. But this was all, so far as I saw, and I saw the whole demonstration was made at the critical moment when the officials left the ground. We were among the very first to leave the grand stand, and as our carriages happened to be preceded by the two mounted gardes de Paris, which the crowd evidently imagined to be an escort, we were treated as we drove past the cascade to a volley of hisses intermingled with cries of "Vive Boulanger" and "Down with the ministry." The crowd was certainly numerous at this point. The sergeants de ville had decided difficulty in keeping them back.

The exhibition of both civil and military force between the cascade and grand stand was indeed tremendous, and it was remarked that the gendarmes who lined the footways wore the cock hats now only worn by the provincial gendarmes corps, who still to a great extent cherish their dislike to republican institutions, and who would not hesitate to strike down any disturber of public order. I can only speak of what I saw, and most assuredly the reception given to M. Grevy as he drove up to the state tribune, although not unanimously favorable, was warmer and heartier than it usually is. Escorted by a strong body of mounted guards he drove straight across the course from the cascade to the front of the tribune, and as he alighted I heard loud cries of "Vive le President de la Republique," "Vive le vieux President." He was accompanied by M. Rouvier, who sat next to him, and by two others of his military household.
